

About the Authors

Marcus Breen

teaches in the Communication Department at Boston College. Born and educated in Australia, he has worked as a journalist, researcher, consultant and academic. His research engages cultural and media studies with radical political economy. He is writing a book about Chinese society and media.

Tara Brabazon

is the Dean of Graduate Studies and Professor of Cultural Studies at Charles Darwin University, and Professor of Cultural Studies at Flinders University in Australia. She is the author of 20 books including 12 Rules for (academic) life, The University of Google, City Imaging, Digital Dieting, Trump Studies, and The Creative PhD, and over 250 refereed articles and book chapters. She has won six teaching awards and is a columnist for the Times Higher Education. Tara was awarded an Order of Australia (AM) in 2019 for her contribution to higher education.

François Debrix

is a Professor of Political Science at Virginia Tech. From 2011 to 2022, he served as the Director of the interdisciplinary and theory-oriented ASPECT (Alliance for Social, Political, Ethical, and Cultural Thought) program at Virginia Tech. Some of his recent publications include the following books: Global Powers of Horror: Security, Politics, and the Body in Pieces (Routledge, 2017); Beyond Biopolitics: Theory, Violence, and Horror in World Politics (Routledge, 2012; co-authored with Alexander Barder); and Necropolitics: On Death and Death-Making in International Relations (Routledge, 2020; edited with Caroline Alphin).

Henry A. Giroux

currently holds the McMaster University Chair for Scholarship in the Public Interest and is the Paulo Freire Distinguished Scholar in Critical Pedagogy. His latest books include Pedagogy of Resistance: Against Manufactured Ignorance (Bloomsbury 2022) and Insurrections: Education in the Age of Counter-revolutionary politics (Bloomsbury in 2023).

Edith González-Santiago

has a Master's Degree in Teaching Psychology at the upper secondary level and has a Bachelor's Degree in Psychology from UNAM. Professor at the Facultad de Estudios Superiores Iztacala, UNAM in the Open University and Distance Education System.

Stefan Lawrence

is currently senior lecturer in Sport Business Management at Leeds Beckett University, United Kingdom. Stefan is editor of the books Digital Wellness, Health and Fitness Influencers and Digital Football Cultures (both with Routledge) and has published widely on sport and leisure their relationship to social justice and digital cultures respectively. He is a member of the editorial boards for Leisure Sciences, Leisure Studies and Managing Sport and Leisure and is a Principal Fellow of Advance

Higher Education.

Charles Lemert

is an Emeritus Professor of Sociology at Wesleyan University. He has published extensively in sociological theory. His Americans Thinking America will be published early in 2024. He is beginning work with Kristin Plys on The Certain Future of Marxism, a sequel to their recently published The Uncertain Future of Capitalism.

Timothy W. Luke

is University Distinguished Professor, and, Chair, Department of Political Science at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. The co-founder, and co-editor, of Fast Capitalism, his research focuses on environmental political theory, international politics as well as social and political theory as they relate to the workings of cultural politics, global governance, and political economy.

José Manuel Meza Cano

has a PhD in psychology from UNAM, Mexico. He is currently a full time professor at the same university. His research lines deal with disciplinary social networks, especially the study and analysis of the fediverse's social networks and their application to distance education as spaces for knowledge construction.

James Sandy

is an assistant professor of history in the Department of History at the University of Texas at Arlington. His research explores the intersection of American military and cultural history, specifically in the prosecution and validation of violence and the ways in which American conflicts are memorialized in popular culture. His upcoming book, A War All Our Own, offers a comprehensive history of the American Ranger Tradition.